Join us as Bobby McDonald and the Honorable Karen L. Robinson participate in an "INDABA", a deep discussion rooted in and supported by traditions. As civil unrest and cries for racial equality and social justice abound, this virtual event will address how you can be directly involved in ensuring diversity, equity and inclusion in the judicial system. Judge Robinson discusses the process of becoming a judge and explains the duties of a judge and the public in the judicial system. Bobby McDonald will focus on how the business community and educational institutions can play an even more significant role on our campuses by bringing a collaboration of projects and events to increase awareness of social justice, equity and inclusion issues and solutions.
